Summary

"If It Is To Be It's Up To Me."

Coming from not a very privileged background, I don't have a great college to show off but everyday, I try to more than make up for it by putting in 100% of my efforts in learning and growing.

I can proudly say that most of what I have learned has come from YouTube/Coursera/Udemy and it has opened my mind to an extent which I never thought would happen.

Currently in the final year of my undergraduate degree in economics, I have over time grown very curious about finance and where it crosses path with economics. Investment management, investment research and investment banking are some of the areas I am interested in and I am working continuously on improving my skills that are needed to achieve goals not only in professional life but personal life also.

I have also developed a free website(econalpha.ga) from scratch (guess what? using various tutorials on YouTube) to take online whatever I have learned about economics in the past few years. It feeds into my love for writing on economy and markets as well. The website isn't rich in content as of now but I am working on it.

If you have made this far then I thank you for your time and attention.
